OF TAX ON BUILDINGS

Rate Is Disproportionately High.

Members of the Business Men's Com mittee met at the Reform Club yesterday to discuss plans for lightening the burdens of business enterprises by cutting the tax rate on buildings to one-half that on land. Amos R. E. Pinchot presided during part of the meeting and then surrendered the chair to John L Harper of the Independence League.

The discussion indicated that the committee has declared war against the real estate interests on the ground that they are doing all they can to oppose the increase of land taxes. One of the members said that the movement has resolved itself to a bitter struggle between business interests and land speculators to decide which is to bear the lion's share of the expenses of government.

Charles T. Root told of the committee's futile efforts to have bills it favored passed by the Legislature. He said, however, that the movement had so enlarged its scope that it now has the backing of more than 200 manufacturers and merchants, representing many millions of capital and employing 18,000 persons in the five boroughs of the city.

Washington, May 29.—Exonerating the police force of Washington as a whole and Major Richard Sylvester, superintendent of the Police Department in particular, of blame for conditions existing along Pennsylvania avenue during the woman suffrage parade on March 3, the Senate District Committee, which investigated the conditions, submitted its report to the Senate to-day. The report severely condemns the conditions which existed along the line of march during the parade and declares that some of the regular and declares that some of the regular policemen and more of the special police-men "acted with apparent indifference."

There was not presented sufficient evi-dence upon which to single out any par-ticular individual for condemnation, says the report.

The committee throws the principal blame on Congress for not giving authority for the clearing of Fennsylvania avenue a reasonable time before the parade started.

The report declares that the War De-partment went to the limit of its authority if it did not exceed it in detailing a troop of cavalry from Fort Myer. Conditions, says the report, did not exist which war-ranted a request for United States troops.

When the cordage trust collapsed Lawrence Waterbury was a young man about town, a polo player, a cross-country rider, and already a favorite in society. Instead of setting him back, his father's failure seemed to raise him in the favor of New York's wealthy society, and for many years after it was almost a fad for persons who entertained lavishly to see that Larry was always at hand.

WATERBURY DOESN'T FIGHT DIVORCE SUIT

Decision on Wife's Charge of Cruel Treatment Expected Next Week.

UASE HEARD IN CHAMBERS

Details of the Evidence Are Kept Secret by Counsel and Others.

PORTLAND, Me., May 29.—The libel for divorce filed here by Mrs. Maude L. Waterbury against her husband, Lawrence Waterbury of New York, con-tains no specific charges and alleges merely "cruel and abusive treatment." An announcement that a decree was granted to Mrs. Waterbury yesterday was incorrect.

The libel hardly covers a sheet of

OF '63 TO REASSEMBLE paper and sets forth that Mauge L. Hall was married to Lawrence Waterbury in New York on April 21, 1900, and that they lived together until April, that they lived together until April, 1911. Mrs. Waterbury asked for the custody of two children, Lawrence, Jr., born February 9, 1901, and Anna Liv-ingston, born November 19, 1903, Neither counsel nor any other person concerned in the case would talk about it to-day

Judge Haley, who heard the evidence in chambers yesterday, said nothing further than that there must have been a misunderstanding as to his having reached a decision. This he has re-served. It is expected that he will announce it early next week. Mr. Waterbury's counsel offered no objection to the testimony, nor did he oppose the divorce.

He had gone to school with Alfred, Cornelius and Reginald Vanderbilt, and later taught them to play polo. George Jay Gould gave evidence of a strong liking for Waterbury, and the Gould
